

MY LAST ISSUE.

For nearly ten years have I labored to raise the South Kentuckian to the place it now occupies in Kentucky journalism and having named and ushered it into existence, I cannot give it up without deep feelings of regret. My aim has been to conduct a paper for the best interests of the city and county, and while at times the course of the paper may have been severely criticised, the public will at least be charitable enough to credit me with honesty of purpose.

To the press boys who have unanimously treated me with such courtesy and who have at times spoken so complimentary of the KENTUCKIAN, in a feeble way I can but express my appreciation of such manifestations of good will and fraternal feeling. I assure them, one and all, that in leaving them I can only hope that their aspirations and ambitions may all be gratified and that the sheets may rise up in stacks before them.

It will be a pleasure to me to always remember those who have given the KENTUCKIAN their patronage and support and who have cheered and encouraged me along the journalistic pathway. Such influence has been duly appreciated.

To the many lady friends of the KENTUCKIAN who have been generous in patronage and kind words, I wish to extend my profound thanks, and whatever my field of labor may be hereafter, fond remembrances of your kindness will ever be entertained.

I have made enemies by my career as a journalist, it is not my will that they be such, for I have only acted in accordance with what I conceived to be right and just and not with any intention to offend.

In turning over the KENTUCKIAN to Mr. Chas. M. McManis, who was associated with me for nearly nine years in publishing the paper, I recognize in him one amply able to properly conduct it and to elevate it still higher in its field of usefulness.

Messrs. T. E. Bartley and Allan Wallis, both experienced newspaper men, will under Mr. McManis' valuable assistance.

And now to friends, patrons, one and all, I bid a reluctant farewell. Very Truly,
W. A. WILGUS.

The Prison Commissioners released six more convicts on parole from the penitentiary this week, under the new law passed by the last Legislature.

Halford, the appointed private secretary of Harrison, was born in England, and it is said that Harrison is related to Jeff. Davis. The country is going to the dogs.

The constitutionality of the local option law has been affirmed by the Court of Appeals, on an appeal from Harlan county by J. R. Neighbors, who was fined $100 for selling liquor.

Every Thanksgiving day since he went into office, Whitney, Secretary of the Navy, has given every employee of the department a turkey. It took 400 to go round last Wednesday. He is Minister of Turkey as well as Secretary of the Navy.

The National Press Association in session at San Antonio, Tex., last week, elected J. L. Pettit, of Arkansas, President for the coming year, and then adjourned to take an excursion to the City of Mexico. The next meeting will be held in Detroit.

Of course Harrison's opposition to the Blair educational bill, in the Senate on March 5, 1881, he said in his speech: "One dollar voted by the people in any school district for the support of the common schools is worth ten dollars given out of the Treasury of the United States."

A recent decision of the United States Supreme Court settles a much disputed question on policies for life insurance. That court holds that a policy of insurance taken out in the name of, and payable to a man's wife or children, can under no circumstances be attached by the creditors of the deceased husband or father.

As many papers have intimated, we do not believe that James G. Blaine is going to lose the new administration. Mr. Harrison is a man of his own head, and it is hardly probable that he will be bullied by the gentleman from Maine. During the canvass, it is true, Mr. Blaine seemed to cast Harrison in the shade, but it will soon be the President-elect's day to shine, and the great letter-writer may have to content himself with a back seat. However the two, we say hurrah for Harrison!

The Louisville Times of the 27th, last, makes the following sensible suggestion: "We strongly advise Democrats to sign the petitions of Republicans for positions which Democrats now hold. Gen. Harrison has pledged himself to Civil Service Reform, in his letter and speech. No doubt he will violate this pledge, but there is no reason why we should smooth the way for him, and enable him to say that he makes changes in obedience to the general wish of the community without distinction of party. It would be far better for Democrats to send remonstrances against a change, and let the removal appear, as it really will be, for party purposes."

ANARCHY!

ALMOST A TRAGEDY AND QUITE A FARCE.

The Formality of Trial Gone Through With.

TRAGEDY.

Last Tuesday morning at 10:30 a large crowd gathered at the City Court room to find out whether City Attorney Ferguson would insist on trying a number of the young men of the city, who had been cited to appear before the City Judge to answer the charge of disturbing the peace and disorderly conduct.

When a representative of this paper took his place in the crowd, as near in front as he could get, the court was in the midst of the trial of a Pentonic meat man of Sixth street, Max Meyer, and his next door neighbor, H. M. Drexler, who is engaged in the same business as the "Frenchman from Berlin." We failed to catch all the evidence, but heard enough of it to come to the conclusion that if Mr. Meyer had given a little more rein to his temper—which at times seems to be a great ailment, taking with it all the discretion and better judgment of Mr. Meyer—the life of his neighbor would have been endangered, if not taken. Mr. Drexler testified that Mr. Meyer had threatened to kill him, that a huge knife was to do the bloody work, and then the departed spirit of Mr. Meyer's victim and Mr. Meyer would get along in peace. But, strange to say, the tragedy was averted by some one calling the police. The jury fined Meyer $10 and Drexler $5. It is to be hoped that this is the last difficulty these two meat men will have.

FARCE—ACT I.

SCENE 1st.—The City Attorney, contrary to the expectations of some of the by-standers, announced his determination and readiness to prosecute on behalf of the city the following named young men for the grand blow-out of John Gentry on the 10th of this month—the ever-to-be-remembered railroad election day: Charles Basile, Harry Tandy, Walter Blythe, Charles and Jake Meyer, Jo Sieghagen, Claude Clark, Ed Trice and James Halford. There were several lawyers for the defense, namely A. H. Clark, Judge McPherson, Ohio Anderson, Col. Sybert, Jas. Breathitt, Lee Johnson, G. M. Bell and S. Walton Forgy. It was evident that the City Court room would not hold the large number of persons who wanted to witness the farce of a trial, and the Court, by invitation, repaired to the Circuit Court room. The actors who had an engagement "for one day only," through their attorneys asked that a jury should be empaneled. The prosecution thought to head off the game by trying the young men for a breach of the peace, but the lynx-eyed Col. Clark was a little too fast for him and beat the City Attorney at his own game. So the trial was agreed on for disorderly conduct. A few minutes before 12 a jury of six with great difficulty was obtained and the court adjourned until after "filling up time."

ACT II.

SCENE 1st.—Enter the Hon. Court. Lawyers seated around the tables. The culprits in high good humor. Everybody smoking cigars and cigarettes. Trial begins. John Gentry sworn and takes the witness chair. Testifies that he came to town on the 10th day of November to go to a party at the house of a friend. Down on Main street he saw a lot of boys. Recognized several of the boys present as having thrown the fire crackers. Was followed up the street by them, whose number increased the farther he went. Some there were 150 or 200—white and black—following him; he wasn't afraid, but walked rather fast. Finally they came to a traction engine under full head of steam and the boys set the engine after him.

SCENE 2d, At 2—Gentry out of the way of the engine.

Gentry went out Seventh street to the College and then turned into 9th street, followed by the crowd, crying "Stop thief!" blowing horns, ringing bells, shouting fire crackers, &c., &c. Still not afraid, but keeps on going. Just before he reached the house of a relative he was struck by a rock—some where. Still not scared a bit—thought the boys only wanted to have a "little fun" with him; not uneasy when he reached relative's house and entered same at once.

ACT III.

SCENE 1st.—Hayden Ferguson called to testify.

In substance agrees with the testimony of Gentry.

SCENE 2d.—Dub Ferguson takes the stand.

Not much in his testimony differing from the other two witnesses. Was told by Charles Anderson to advise his counsel not to stay in town that night. The advice was given in a friendly way.

SCENE 3d.—A house near the mill with the shining waters of the river in plain view.

A large crowd gathered near the house and invited Mr. Gentry out for a social bath—but it might have been a ducking. The Captain on horse finally got the crowd away, and nobody was hurt, nobody was scared. Gentry wasn't, for he came back into town the next morning.

ACT IV.

SCENE 1st.—Lawyers making speeches.

SCENE 2d.—The best song of the

All of them did the best they could in that small time.

SCENE 3d.—Case given to the jury. The jury of six retired and in a few minutes brought in a verdict of acquittal of the whole crowd.

GRAND FINALE.

A grand hurrah went up from the crowd when the verdict was read. The main witness looked like he didn't care if the boys did get off so easily. The City Attorney and his assistant, M. D. Brown, realized that they had lost the case, though they had done all they could to gain it. The City Judge, who probably did not believe there was anything in the case from the beginning, but felt it to be his sworn duty to try it, did not change color the least when he read the verdict of the jury. All left the court house in good humor as the curtain dropped, and it is to be hoped that the miserable farce will drop out of remembrance. It was a grand play with a full company and a large house.

IT WAS A SUCCESS.

A Brevy of Beauties Before the Footlights Tuesday Night.

THE Y. W. C. T. U. ENTERTAINMENT.

The entertainment given by the Y. W. C. T. U. at the Opera House Tuesday night was quite well attended and proved to be a very enjoyable affair. The ladies having in charge had worked long and faithfully in getting up the concert, and they deserve much credit for its success.

The exercises opened with a Dairy Maids' Convention in which about twenty young ladies took part. The convention was called to order by Miss Mary Feland and was thereupon organized by the election of Miss Albertine Wallis as President. This young lady, who has a clear and well modulated voice, proceeded to state the object of the meeting, and after the selection of a Secretary some entertaining recitations were made by the young ladies, who were all attired in costumes of red and white with red "scoops" on their heads. Below are some of the local hits:

"THE HOPKINSVILLE MILK-MAIDS' QUESTION"

was recited by Miss Kitty Zimmer: For a milk-maid of Hopkinsville, City, For milk, cream and butter the queen, Forherd of sleek Holsteins and Jerseys, From Red-Bell's and Geo. V. Green, It's a treat to see you, of the lines it will cure you,

To see the boys pour in a stream, To a Y. W. T. supper to drink milk from a dipper, And have half-a-dollar in cream, When a firm breaks out Captain Twyman, Ains the noxious as high as a spire, And while the town is kept keeping-doing, With butter-milk to see out the fire, Then it's jolly and lunny to see milk and honey, Laid out the fire scorched honey, While the pigs in the gutter as they swirl milk and butter, Grant, "do not they do us up brown," An Emperer of old when she four-eyed, Drove fifty she-donkeys a-long, Their milk was a bath and cosmetic, To make her complexion young and strong, And I think some modern young donkey, And I think some modern young donkey, If they only would go and do likewise, Nor seek their poor noses in glue,

Quon Juno once owned a letter, A sweet-treasured and beautiful beast, A brown-eyed and lacy-colored beast, Worth six hundred dollars at least, One evening that good kinked the bucket, And then she jumped over the moon, The Milky Way streamed down the heavens, You can ask it to-night with a spoon.

We've had, so I'm told, an election, "Carry," "Election N" and "O. V." We can ride to New York or Chicago, Or southward run down to the sea, And I'd thought to see dry little river, And threaten a shortage of steam, We'll make locomotives with butter, And the water-tanks fill up with cream.

A toast to Miss Jennie Cassidy, founder of the Flower Mission of Louisville, who has taken a great interest in the society here, was recited by Miss Mary Feland. Here's to her name sweet couch of affliction, Caused the Flower Mission to bloom, And banded like Christ's benediction "The benediction of garden to bloom, The blessings of heaven be waited On the angels who do good by stealth, And so, with full golden upturned, We'll thank Miss Cassidy for the deed, Then came "The Washington Dairy Queens," by Miss Mary Anderson.

Four years in the Washington dairy "OUR FRANKIE" has stabled her cows; Her milk was worth hundreds of millions—It's Mrs. Ben Harrison's now, Thus the wheel of Fame Fortune keeps turning, She changes the world at her will; But over our best one flag shall still float, And Providence pilot us still, Frankie shall have our fond affection, The pure, the beautiful, the true; Though from the White House she departs We'll cherish her in our heart of hearts, May she who fills us on the stage Write words as good as fair a page, The pattern of a perfect life, Heaven's last, best gift, the Model wife.

Miss Lila Belle Donaldson perpetrated the following: The Hopkinsville dairy is booming, The milk of monopoly's broke, The commercial child's humming—the O. V. is coming, And you owe me a V for this joke.

This by a little Mary Anderson, aged five years, with a sucking-bottle, was loudly applauded: If I had a bushel of money I'd put this old thing on the shelf, I'd buy me a new cedar bucket And milk a whole cow for myself.

After this feature was over a number of solos were sung by Mr. Moore, Mr. Leachridge, Miss Pattie Mercer, Miss Nora Rogers and others. Duets were also sung by Mr. Reynolds and Miss Genevieve Anderson and Messrs. Hill and Anderson. The best song of the evening was the dairy song in which four young ladies dressed to represent dairy products, to represent the four dairy men of the city, while two young men were placed at either end of the line to represent a pump and a bag of chalk. This solution to the supposed ingredients of dairy milk raised considerable merriment at the expense of the milkmen.

Perhaps the most creditable part of the program was the military drill by a company of pretty young ladies. They were twelve in number as follows: Misses May Anderson, Helen Vancey, Lila Belle Donaldson, Ethel Bradley, Della Fuqua, Willie Wallace, Nora Rogers, Mary Feland, Genevieve Anderson, Daisy Anderson, Gamie Wallis and May Fuqua. In this the young soldiers were costumed in red skirts and white waists with black girdles and presented a very handsome appearance. They acquitted themselves throughout a lengthy drill in a most praiseworthy manner. They were drilled by Captain John Feland and were put through the marches, wheels and other difficult evolutions of Upton's military tactics. They kept step perfectly and showed a familiarity with the various movements that would have done credit to the Latham Guards.

At the conclusion of the concert a supper was served in a store room across the street, which was not the least enjoyable feature.

We are glad to note that the affair netted quite a nice sum, which will be used by the Young Women's Christian Temperance Union.

The twelve young ladies who took part in the drill had their pictures taken in a group in their drill suits the following day.

An Experience.

CHATTANOOGA, TENN., June 27, 1888. The Swift Specific Co., Atlanta, Ga.

Gentlemen—In 1881 a friend of mine contracted a terrible case of blood poison, and at once sought relief of the best physicians. After a four months trial with a feeling of greatest despondency, he left Chattanooga for Hot Springs, where he remained three months. The treatment there did not seem to do him any good, and with a crushed spirit and with death in his worst form staring him in the face, he came home. He saw an advertisement of your medicine. At his friend I applied with the first few bottles. I was astonished at the result. After the third bottle the sores all disappeared, and his recovery was rapid. In three months he was hard at work, and there has been no return of the disease. I withheld his name from the public, but will send it in confidence to any who write for it. I give this certificate cheerfully.

D. B. DAVENPORT, 13 and 15 1/2th street.

Treatment on Blood and Skin Diseases mailed free. The Swift Specific Co., Drawer 3, Atlanta, Ga.

Davenport now has a steam laundry in operation, and it will not be long, at the present rate of increase, before every town of any consequence in the State will have one of these modern conveniences to the "heavenly children." Hopkinsville has just had one established, and many dollars heretofore sent to laundries out of the State will now be kept at home, if our people will do as they should and give a united support to the new enterprise.

Here is great encouragement to the ambitious apprentice in a printing office. The first appointment made by Mr. Harrison is a practical printer. The Louisville Times says of him: "Twenty-five years ago E. W. Halford, Mr. Harrison's private secretary, was working as a job printer, and gave up a position as such to become a reporter on the Indianapolis Journal. The first 'item' he wrote was a ten-line advertisement."

Nothing so much pleases a business as strictly first-class stationery printed in a manner satisfactory to a discerning observer. The work turned out by the KENTUCKIAN is such as to stand the test, and all who want the cheapest and best of work should send or bring their orders in.

State Senator Cassius M. Clay, Jr., of Bourbon county, will be married next week to a daughter of State Senator John D. Harris, of Madison county. The affair will paralyze the entire bluegrass section with its brilliancy.

Since General Palmer's withdrawal from the G. A. R. an effort is being made to organize a National Association of Democratic veterans.

A LITTLE WAIF.

Last Tuesday morning a little waif was found on the store-room step of G. E. Galtier. Some one, unaware of the absence of Mr. Galtier from the city, and believing that he would kindly take the little one in when he found it, left it there early in the morning. When Julie Mercer, who went to the store quite early, espied it, it was resting quietly where the heartless person had placed it. It was nearly dressed in white muslin with lots of trimming. As Mr. Galtier was not at home, Julie and Ed. Lloyd thought it their duty to take proper care of it until the one for whom it had been evidently left returned from Cincinnati. So the young gentleman, who have as yet had no experience in taking care of babies, carried it into the store, and tying a piece of cord around its neck, hung it up at one side of the front door for the curious to gaze at. It is needless to say that the waif didn't mind it, as it was a rag baby.

Three persons were baptized at the Baptist church Wednesday evening.

The Russell corner is the only unoccupied store room on Main street.

Mr. Fraser has pledged himself to put up a large lantern at the depot before he leaves the city.

Wily & Burnett have just rec'd the latest select line of stationery and toilet articles. Everything new.

The sacrament of the Lord's Supper will be administered at the First Presbyterian Church next Sunday.

Dr. F. W. Blakey was appointed Railroad Surgeon Wednesday, to fill the place of Dr. Fairleigh, deceased.

It is reported that the leader of the choir of one of the churches is soon to wed a worthy young gentleman of another section of the State.

Mr. G. H. Pike, one of the publishers of the Telephone, and Miss Pearl Dyer, a daughter of Judge A. H. Dyer, were married yesterday at Cadiz.

The new pavement in front of the stores of John B. Galtier, W. H. Olvey and Chas. McKee & Co., is now completed, and is a good one.

The herd brothers, of Bellevue, last week sold W. J. Withers one hundred and ten head of hogs, the average weight per head being 325 pounds.

"Cris Cross" was played to a small audience last Wednesday night. The play was one of the best that has been presented at the Opera House this season.

Mr. D. C. Williams and Miss Naomi Jones were married last Wednesday evening at the Portico place, a few miles south of Pembroke, by Rev. Tiller.

On the fourth page of today's paper will be found a well written article by one of the hunting club that returned from a camp hunt between the rivers a few days since.

A complete small job printing office for sale, cheap. Text O. S. Gordon press, bright as a dollar and in perfect order. Address Allan M. Wallis, this office.

Mr. Robert Burkel is now domiciled in the Abernathy house on Ninth street. The house has been repaired and repaired and the public cannot find a better kept house anywhere.

Send your orders to J. S. Brown, Springfield, Tenn., for pure Tennessee and Kentucky whiskeys and apple and peach brandies. Prices of whiskeys $1.50, $1.75, $2.00 and $2.25, according to age. Brandies $2 and $2.50.

Our people generally want the new administration to appoint Maj. S. H. Crumbaugh to the Owensboro Collectors and a petition to that effect is being circulated and receiving the signatures of men of all parties.

Monday a man took his buggy to the Universalist Carriage Company for repairs, and it being left outside over night, next morning it was discovered that a thief during the night had stolen one of the wheels. The man is spotted.

Our friend Ross Rogers has bought out the livery business of Fritz Hoss, next door to Yancey & Davidson's coal yard near the depot. Ross is one of the most popular young men in the city and deserves a liberal patronage.

It is probable that the Y. W. C. T. U. drill corps will go to Madisonville and Henderson soon. Capt. Feland deserves great credit for the thorough manner in which he has taught the young ladies to go through with all the different movements of the drill.

The two colored Baptist churches have been holding meetings for several weeks with great success. Next Sunday afternoon about one hundred and forty who have confessed their faith in Christ will be baptized at the mill pond.

For some time past R. W. Norwood has been engaged in the insurance business in the West, but has given it up and taken the position of route agent for the Adams Express Co. in Illinois. Mr. Norwood is one of the best Express men in the whole country.

Stop and think a moment. How would you like some morning to be notified that there was a handsome present for you at Latham's dry goods store? Every one purchasing as much as a dollar's worth of goods at Mr. Latham's is given a numbered ticket, and all have an equal chance of getting presents.

Messrs. Wily & Burnett are receiving their stock of holiday goods, which embraces all the new novelties. Since starting in business they made large additions to their stock of drugs, fancy articles, etc., and made a great improvement in their store. They are clever gentlemen and deserve the liberal patronage they are receiving.

Mr. Harry Fraser has had a force at work raking the main and side tracks of the railroad at Ninth street this week. About thirty hands have been at work and the tracks have been raised about eight inches and a great improvement made in the crossing. The whole yard extending from the old planing mill to the tank is to be overhauled. For a long time there has been employment been given to about fifteen hundred hands on the Henderson Division, but the road is now in such excellent condition that the force has been reduced to about eleven hundred. During the two years Mr. Fraser has been here he has labored incessantly to put the road in the condition it is now in.

A month or more ago Mr. James McClure, a brother of Mr. M. L. McClure, who lives on 17th street, came to this city on a visit. While here he was taken sick, and suffered the most intense pain in his lower bowels. At times his physicians, Drs. Scargent and Gaines, were able to give him some relief, but his disease finally became unmanageable, and Mr. McClure died Tuesday night at 8 o'clock. A post mortem examination was made which revealed a complication of bowel troubles, but peritonitis was the cause of his death. His remains were shipped by express from the undertaking establishment of Thompson & McElroy to Louisville yesterday.

The third lecture of the Chautauque Circle by Col. Sanford on "Old Times and Now," will be given at the Baptist church next Monday night the 3rd of December. One dollar and a half for six lectures is cheaper than season tickets are sold in any of the towns or cities near here, two dollars and two and a half being the usual prices. The Chautauque Circle does not wish to make any money, but should any accumulate they will put the price yet lower or add more lectures. We learn that they hope soon to work into their course the best musical talent of the country, and other attractive features. They deserve and need the hearty support of every good citizen.

The First National Bank, adjoining the bank on East 9th St., is conceded by all to be the leading shop in the city, and Marcus Young, the proprietor, is growing in popularity every day as a tonsorial artist. He employs none but first class assistants, and his motto is "I please every patron of his shop. Politeness, courtesy and close attention to business are characteristics of which the proprietor is possessed. If you are a stranger in the city and want to be made to feel at home step into the First National Shop.

Lovers of handsome furniture should by all means visit the rooms of Messrs. Thompson & McElroy, on Main street. There they will find all of the newest designs, for that enterprising firm "reach out" to every novelty that is brought out. Their stock embraces everything in the furniture line, from the finest bed set down to a kitchen safe or cheap chair. They are liberal dealers and all contemplating purchasing furniture should by all means take a look at their stock.

Dr. Reuben Medley, of Sacramento Ky., will fill Rev. Gibbs pulpit at Ford's Hall to-morrow night, Sunday and Sunday night. Dr. Medley has been preaching the doctrine of the final boldness and happiness of all mankind for nearly 40 years. He is a pleasant speaker and a sound reasoner. Come out and hear him.

Clarksville has more banks than any other town of its size in Tennessee. Which demonstrates the fact that there must be an immense business done here in order to support them all. Five banks in a town of 8,000 is not very bad.—Clarksville Chronicle. You haven't got as much banking capital as Hopkinsville has, though.

The regular monthly Teachers' Association will be held in the Public School building to-morrow, and a full attendance is desired. Geo. W. Payne will deliver the address of welcome. The meeting at the Court House to-morrow night will be one of unusual interest to friends of education.

A special Thanksgiving dinner was spread at the Phoenix yesterday, which was highly enjoyed, not only by the guests, but by many invited friends as well. It was one of Mrs. Cooper's very best efforts, and it is saying a great deal, for no one knows better than she how to prepare a good meal.

TOLKNO, O., Jan. 10, 1887.

Messrs. F. J. Cheney & Co.—Gentlemen:—I have been in the general practice of medicine for most 40 years, and would say that in all my practice and experience, have never seen a preparation that I could prescribe with as much confidence of success as I can Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by you. Have prescribed it a great many times and its effect is wonderful, and would say in conclusion that I have yet to find a case of Catarrh that it would not cure, if they would take it according to directions.

Yours Truly,
L. J. GORSUCH, M. D.
Office, 215 Summit St.
We will give $100 dollars for any case of Catarrh that can not be cured with Hall's Catarrh Cure. Taken internally.

KATZEN-FRY.

An Interesting Event in Hebrew Society.

[Herald (Va.) Times.]

The marriage of Mr. Isaac Katzen to Miss Rebecca Fry, yesterday afternoon at 4 o'clock, was one of the most interesting events which has occurred in Hebrew society in Kosciusko. Mr. Joseph Fry, of Hopkinsville, Ky., father of the bride, conducted a full ceremony according to the Hebrew faith. The groom and the bride, as in olden times, stood under a silk canopy held by four young men, Messrs. Harrison, Bates, Solomon and Fry.

Mr. and Mrs. A. Morris gave away the groom, and Mr. and Mrs. G. May gave away the bride. Emblematic of true love, which should never be broken, the groom crushed a goblet under his foot, signifying that as the glass could not gather itself together, so they should never separate until death.

According to the Hebrew usage, the groom and bride slipped the ceremonial wine which is present at every feast, thus signifying that their blood should flow in both bodies as one. Following the service, conducted in Hebrew by Mr. Fry, the English service was conducted in legal form by Rev. J. E. Bushnell, pastor of St. Mark's church. A sumptuous collation was then enjoyed by all present. Numerous gifts and telegrams added to the zest of the hour.

Among those present were Rev. Dr. Phipps, Mrs. J. E. Bushnell, Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Stewart, Dr. J. D. Kirk and wife, Mr. and Mrs. Esplan, Mr. Palmer, of Baltimore, Mr. and Mrs. Haer, Mr. and Mrs. Bachrach, Miss May, Miss Solomon, sister of the bride, Mr. and Mrs. Morris, parents of the host, and Mrs. Greenberg.

The happy couple left at 4:35 p. m. for Richmond and northern cities. They will make their future home at Pocaiontas.

BULLARD-RAMSEY.

Miss Lizzie Bullard, one of Hopkinsville's most charming young ladies, spent a few days with Misses Nettie and Lily Brister last week, and attended the marriage of her brother, Mr. J. M. Bullard, to Miss Dorthalia Ramsey, which happy event will be consummated this evening at Whitaker's Chapel, at 8 o'clock. Immediately after the ceremony the happy couple will leave for their future home in Hopkinsville, where the groom is one of the rising young business men. Miss Ramsey is one of Logan's fairest feminine flowers in Whitaker's Chapel neighborhood, and we wish her in her new home the unalloyed happiness her gentility will confer on her husband and all others who chance to come within her lovely influence.—Herald Enterprise.

THANKSGIVING NOTES.

The schools took holiday.

The banks and postoffice closed.

None of the business houses were closed.

The Crescent Mills and Forbes' Mill shut down.

Services were held at the Casky Grange Hall by Revs. Kendall and Torrey.

The union services at the Christian Church were very interesting and largely attended.

The ladies of Grace Church made a beautiful display of fruits, grasses, etc. Never have we seen finer specimens of apples, potatoes, corn, cabbage, oats, etc., anywhere. They were arranged in groups about the chancel and altar with excellent taste, with a background of evergreens. Dr. Venable preached an appropriate sermon, and the music was excellent. The solo of Mrs. Hohmann was highly appreciated.

Here is Grace.

"The Clarksville papers are rejoicing over a jubilee that is to be celebrated near the little town. A great spiritual revival may be looked for, and the rates may surround the place to the proper authorities."—Hopkinsville News.

When an old man hole is compelled to add its whiskey to the city, free Americans have the right to rejoice over a $100,000 expenditure in the locality in which they reside. Hopkinsville hopes on all kinds of institutions and succeeds in driving all that are offered her away, according to the rules set down by Kentucky's famous known as her law.

Take this, and chew on it, even if it does increase in size until you can't swallow it.—Clarksville Chronicle.

Don't let the rats devour what little corn you have, for you will become quite "wily."

In Chicago, the hot-bed of anarchy, there is an organized effort to teach the young that there is no God, no hell, no bible, no church, no good and no evil, and that our systems, government and civilization are nothing more than lies. The News says that the Anarchists have established Sunday-schools where boys and girls are to be brought up primed for social revolution. Down with the schools.

Mrs. Mildred R. Goodall, widow of the late A. C. Goodall, died at the residence of Mr. Jno. N. Mills last Tuesday, aged about 75 years. Her funeral was preached the following day by her pastor, Rev. W. L. Nourse.

One of the best evidences that the survey of the Ohio Valley Railway will commence in a few days is that the chief engineer wrote this week to a friend here to engage his old cook for the new survey.

Wednesday was the day for electing two tobacco inspectors for this market, but owing to a failure to vote on two of the candidates, another effort will be made in the near future.

Citizens Progressive Ticket.

Considerable interest is being manifested in the approaching city election, which comes off Dec. 8. A citizens meeting was held this week and a ticket suggested for Councilmen as follows: W. M. Hill, M. C. Forbes, F. W. Hahney, J. T. Hord, R. M. Hart, N. T. Sayer and E. P. Henderson.
